John

John wants to build a house next to a forest. In the forest there are lots of trees, flowers and animals. There is a lake too. John takes his axe and goes to the forest. He talks to a tree. "I need wood to build my house," he says. So the tree gives John some wood. His friends visit John and they like his house, John and his friends go to the forest and cut down more and more and more trees, to build more and more houses.

Soon there aren't any trees. There aren't any flowers. There aren't any animals. The lake is dirty. The people are hot, sad and thirsty. John goes to the forest. "What happened?" John asks the tree.

"You cut down the trees in the forest. Now the animals don't have food to eat or place to live. The lake is dirty so there aren't any fish", says the tree. "What can I do?" asks John. "Plant trees and clean the lake says the tree. John and his friends plant trees and they clean the lake. Now the trees are tall and have leaves. There are flowers. The animals are back in the forest. There are fish in the lake. It's cool in the forest again. Everyone is happy.
