"Might"

"Might" is a modal verb most commonly used to express possibility. It is also often used in conditional sentences. English speakers can also use "might" to make suggestions or requests, although this is less common in American English.

Examples:

- Your purse might be in the living room. possibility
- If I didn't have to work, I might go with you. conditional
- You might visit the botanical gardens during your visit. suggestion
- Might I borrow your pen? request

THE WORST HOLIDAY OF MY LIFE

Hi, I'm Tessa. It all happened on my last holiday. It was a terrible experience. It was the worst holiday I have ever had. My friend Maly and I decided to go to New Zealand. We had saved money for a very long time to go on this trip. It was our dream to go to the land of "The Lord of the Rings".

We had made a reservation to fly at the end of July. From that moment on, everything went wrong. It turned out that, as the woman at the travel agency didn't understand us correctly, she had reserved a flight for only one person. Then, I managed to reserve a flight but a different one, so we couldn't go together. But I thought that it was not a big deal.

My friend flew a few hours after me. I was going first. When I arrived at the airport, I was very happy because that meant that my holiday had started and nothing else could have happened. I was mistaken. When the hour of my flight was coming, I queued up to the customs clearance. My passport was all right and the next thing I had to do was to go through the metal detector. When I was passing through, it started to beep. I was scared. I was taken aside immediately, and I felt like a thief. It was terrible.

The customs officer had taken me to the other room, and she told me to undress. I tried to explain that I had a belly ring and maybe it was the cause of the beeping, but she didn't want to listen to me. I had to undress anyway. They took my clothes somewhere and I was standing alone in the middle of the room. I was shocked and stressed.

The woman came back after about 5 minutes which seemed to be ages for me. She gave me back my clothes, but I was not allowed to put them on. She checked me one more time with a small metal detector which was obviously beeping in front of my ring.

Of course, the customs officers went through all my things, but they didn't find anything. Therefore, I was late for my flight, so I had to wait for another one. After that horrible flight, my friend and I met at the airport and we went to our hostel. It turned out that we expected something different, but it was not that bad, and we were too tired to look for something else.

New Zealand is the most beautiful country I have ever seen. We loved everything about it. The people, their traditions, their food and most of all, the environment. We spent three weeks there. We really had a good time there. But when the time ended, we had to fly back home. I was a little scared. This time I decided to remove my belly ring.

We came to the airport about three hours before the departure time. At the entrance of the airport, we saw an older woman who had a large card with a word written on it with capital letters: POLAND. So, I came up to her and started to speak in Polish. She smiled and we started to chat together. When we were just about to leave, she asked me if I could take a box of chocolates with me and give it to her son in Poland. He was supposed to meet me at the airport because she would phone him. Of course, I agreed. And then it started again.

At the customs office, everything was OK. I came through the metal detector and nothing happened. My passport was all right. I was almost free when the customs officer asked me about the chocolates. I said that an old lady had given the chocolates to me at the entrance and that her son was going to take it back at the airport in Poland.

The customs asked me to open the box. I didn't want to agree as it was not mine. But I had to do it in the end. It turned out that there were drugs inside. I was taken to jail and spent two days and two nights there! And after everything had been explained, I could come back home and the lady and her «son» were caught and taken to prison. I'm sure I don't have to clarify why this was the worst holiday I have ever had...
